The grantees of such scholarships may be required to carry out part of their research activity at the site of the funding agency, according to an agreed upon program.

ART. 2 Requirements for participation

Admission applications can be submitted by Italian and foreign citizens who hold one of the eligible degrees (see ART. 1 above) or an equivalent academic qualification achieved abroad and recognized by Politecnico di Bari according to Law n. 148/2002 or will obtain it within October 31, 2020. In the latter case, candidates will be admitted "under condition" and they will have to produce, upon enrolment, a degree self-certification to enrol, indicating the degree held and the issuing University, under penalty of the loss of the right to admission to the Ph.D. program, in accordance with Italian Presidential Decree n. 445, art. 46, dated December 28, 2000.

With reference only to candidates who are about to graduate at Politecnico di Bari, it will be possible to submit the application for admission to the competition for a Ph.D. program only after having electronically applied for the achievement of the second level qualification, following rules and timelines issued by “Centro Servizi per la Didattica” administrative offices.

Candidates possessing a foreign degree must hold an II level or Master type degree, according to the Bologna process, that enables the holder to enrol into a Ph.D. program in his/her own country and has been granted by an officially recognized University.

If such a degree has been already declared equivalent, by an Italian University, the applicant must provide a self-certification indicating the details of the certification document.

In case of a specific qualification issued by a foreign university, which still has not been declared equivalent to the Italian degree, the Evaluation Committee shall decide upon the suitability of the qualification achieved abroad, according to the rules existing in Italy and in the issuing country as well as to the international treaties signed by such countries.

The online application to this call implies the implicit request for verification of the degree. In particular, candidates possessing a degree issued by a non-EU country must provide with the admission application:

- second level degree certificate with final grade, if already awarded;
- certificate of all exams together with grades required to award both first and second level degree;
- any other document suitable to prove the required equivalence (e.g., diploma supplement or Declaration of Value issued by Italian diplomatic representation located in country of graduation).

All such documents must be translated into Italian or into English.

Except for the degree (which may be obtained no later than October 31, 2020), all titles useful for admission must be held before the application deadline to this Ph.D. Selection call.

Candidates possessing a foreign degree are admitted “under condition” and, if admitted to the program, must provide the value certification of their degree and the transcripts, containing all exams and their grades, legally translated by the embassy/consulate of the country where the degree was obtained. The value certification must also state that the degree held by the candidate allows him/her to enter a Ph.D. level programme in his/her country.

All candidates are admitted “under condition” until validation of the admission requirements. Politecnico di Bari reserves the right of ascertaining such requirements at any time, also after the start of the courses, according to art. 43 of the T.U. n.445/2000, and, if warranted, may exclude the applicant with written motivation.

ART. 3 Admission application
